Simple but Lofty Goals

A Message from our Chairman and Executive Director

December 1983 marked the beginning of the Newark Campus Development Fund with its first major fundraising drive, "Access to Excellence." The highly successful campaign raised $2.5 million, the largest local fundraising drive at the time, thus creating a vehicle for our community to jointly support Central Ohio Technical College and Ohio State Newark with their philanthropic gifts.

The initial funds supported crucial needs at both institutions such as additional scholarships, faculty development and support, nursing school program expansion, and upgrades to science laboratories and computer technologies, ensuring a high-quality college education would be available to any local person.

It was stated that the funds raised would be used for two important and basic purposes: to maintain and enhance the level of education and technological excellence for which the Newark campus had come to be noted throughout the state; and to make that excellence more accessible not only to qualified high school graduating seniors, but also to people of all ages desiring advanced education.

Those simple but lofty goals have endured for these past 40 years. Their relevance to the work of the Newark Campus Development Fund can be seen in today's expansion of educational offerings on the Newark campus, growth in advanced degrees and coursework, new technologies, and the build-out of state-of-the-art facilities.

The founders of the Newark Campus Development Fund laid out the necessity of our work in that initial campaign by declaring, "Both Ohio State Newark and COTC have crucial, urgent needs that must be met, if their level of education and instructional excellence is to be secured for the years ahead and if that excellence is to be made more accessible to those wishing to avail themselves of it."

We have remained steadfast in our commitment to maintaining, enhancing, and ensuring access to that excellence on the Newark campus. Thank you for your continued partnership and support.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Montagnese
Chairman

Then and Now

The Newark Campus Development Fund

The Campus Environment

What started with the purchase of 105 acres of farmland and the construction of Founders Hall in 1968 has grown to a 200-acre immersive learning environment that houses nine academic buildings, three residence halls, a facilities operations building, and an educational nature reserve.

Advancing Curriculum

An early commitment to a nursing program and strong science offerings continue to be addressed today in the state-of-the-art John and Mary Alford Center for Science and Technology, the most recently completed building on the Newark campus.

Equipping Students for the Future

An early commitment to advanced technology continues today with the addition of the Bachelor of Science in Engineering Technology (BSET) program at Ohio State Newark and new curriculum at COTC to create career pathways and fast-track workers needed in the locally growing semiconductor industry.

Renovation of Founders Hall

Founders Hall, the first and largest building, opened in 1968 and has served the campus's needs well over the past five decades. However, a current major renovation, led by local firm Robertson Construction, will renew the lifespan of the building, giving it a new, more modern identity and ultimately enhance student learning, heighten student success, and elevate the student experience.

When the renovation is completed in summer 2024, Founders Hall will honorifically be renamed Louella Hodges Reese Hall in acknowledgment of Lou Reese's enduring support of the Newark campus over the last six decades. The visionary leadership and generous support given by her and her husband, Gib, through scholarships, capital improvements, programming, and public art, have shaped the Newark campus and the student experience since its inception.

This investment in our students and community would not happen without our generous donors!

Englefield Oil Company

Building a lasting legacy through scholarships

Ben Englefield, FW Englefield III, FW Englefield IV

From humble beginnings in 1961 managing three service stations from his basement office, FW Englefield III founded Englefield Oil Company. He built the business over decades, becoming Ohio's premier provider of automotive, commercial and industrial fuel and lubricant products. Today, the company's most recognizable brand, Duchess Convenience Stores, stretches across the states of Ohio and West Virginia with 119 Duchess locations to date, employing over 1,500 individuals.

Regardless of the size of the company, Mr. Englefield's vision was always to take care of his employees, customers and family. Today, that mission of "total dedication to our customers, employees, family and community" is found in a vast array of community causes supported by Englefield Oil.

When it comes to their charitable giving, Englefield Oil's philosophy has always been to support the many communities that support their business. Licking and the surrounding counties have been critical for the growth of their business.

"This community is truly special," shared Ashley Englefield DeWitt, Vice President of Merchandising & Marketing and third generation family member. "The loyalty from customers and team members has been outstanding and we believe in giving back."

In addition to supporting education through The Englefield Family Scholarship they established at the Newark Campus

Development Fund, the company charitably supports a myriad of organizations throughout their service area.

"Having a strong community backbone is vital for the future, and we look to make an improvement by each donation we make," DeWitt shared. "We focus on charities that are making an impact in our footprint. We take pride in supporting organizations making a true difference."

Englefield Oil Co. believes that giving back to the community is what makes it stronger. "As we work alongside so many other charitable individuals in this community, we can make it strong and more vibrant for generations to come," said DeWitt. "Not only is there a long lineage of prominent businesses and families who have helped shape this community, but each year new organizations and businesses are getting involved. This is going to continue to provide a better quality of life for all residents."

"The more we each give back, the better we can make the community. This is why we have such a great place to live and work."

"It's important for every business and individual to give where they can. Whether that is financially or giving time or resources. The more we each give back, the better we can make the community. This is why we have such a great place to live and work."

The Englefield Family Scholarship, held at the Newark Campus Development Fund, was established in 2012 with gifts from the Englefield Family Foundation to benefit employees of Englefield Oil Company who wish to attend Ohio State Newark or Central Ohio Technical College. The Englefield Foundation continues to make additional charitable gifts to their fund to grow their scholarship's impact.

"This scholarship will allow me to explore my options and find my true calling. I am very grateful! My dad has been working in your sales department for several years and this job makes a huge difference for his life as well as my family. We all love that this job allows him to be home more often, and it gave him flexibility to be available to attend softball and baseball games for my brother and I. Englefield has given my family a lot and this scholarship is just another example as to how helpful they are. Thank you."

An Evening of Celebration and Recognition

Scenes from the Annual Scholarship and Student Leadership Dinner

Each year, students from Central Ohio Technical College and Ohio State Newark gather to celebrate an evening of scholarship and leadership. The Office of Advancement and Office of Student Life partner to host the event, which connects scholarship recipients with their scholarship donors and recognizes a number of outstanding students and campus organizations for their contributions to the campus and greater community.

Campus leadership took the opportunity to highlight special partnerships with the Newark Campus Development Fund and the Licking County Foundation, both of which contribute significant scholarship dollars each year through endowed funds established by their generous donors.

John and Sarah Wallace are surrounded by The J. Gilbert and Louella H. Reese Scholarship recipients. Sarah's parents, Gib and Lou Reese, established their scholarship in 2010 with a $10 million match to spur the Next Generation Challenge, a community-based scholarship campaign that raised $21 million for scholarships on the Newark campus.

Marc Lyons, who with his wife Kelly, established The Grant Lyons Scholarship in 2022 to support students at COTC and Ohio State Newark that are pursuing a degree or certificate in criminal justice or law enforcement, addressed the crowd and shared their family motto: "Blessed to be a blessing to others." Marc and Kelly, OSU alumni, established their fund to honor his brother's retirement from the Knox County Sheriff's Department.

Doug and Joan Mock, who established The Douglas F. and Joan D. Mock Scholarship in 2012, are pictured with Ohio State Newark student Jennifer Starr, 2022-23 recipient.

NCDF ANNUAL FUND

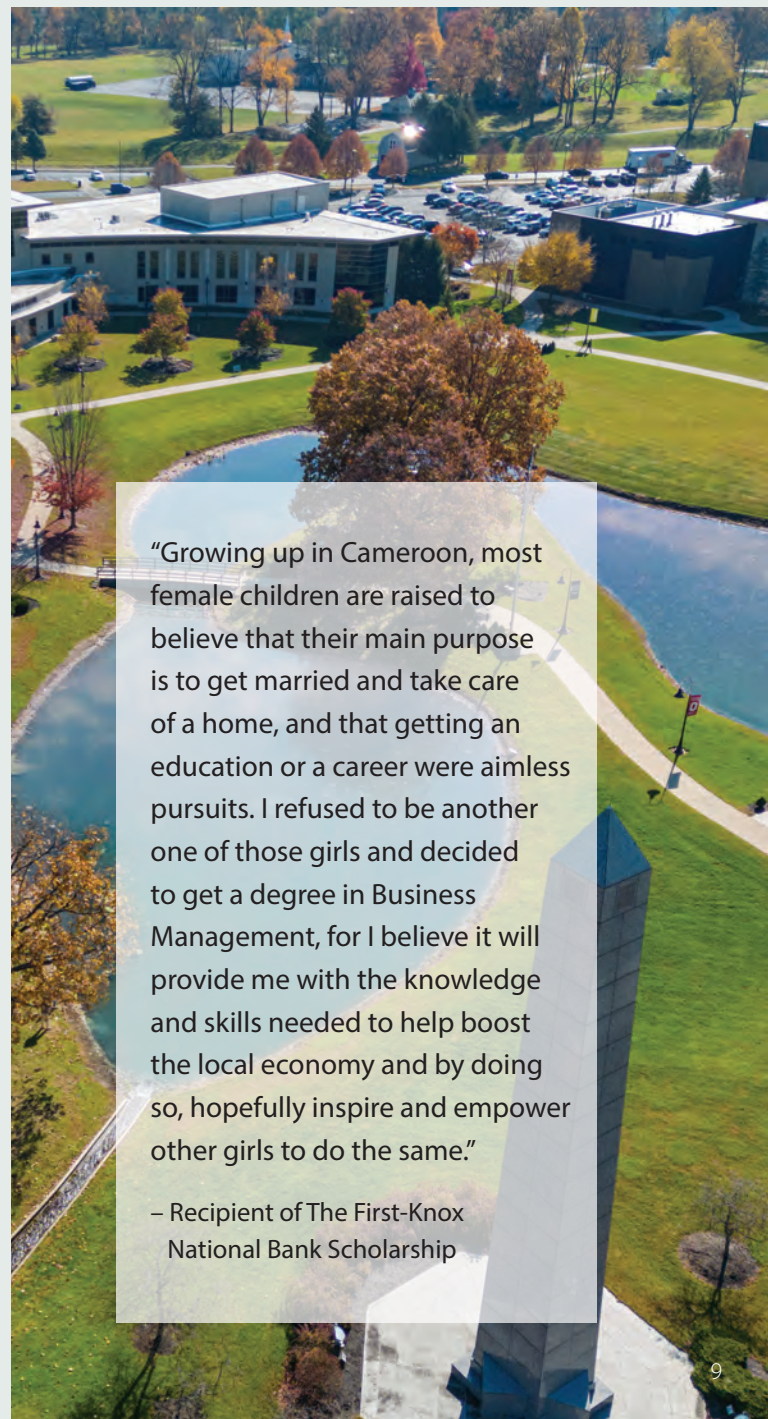

Established in 2005, the NCDF Annual Fund provides critical funding that ensures the Newark campus can attract and keep the best and brightest students. Annual support from alumni, parents and friends of the campus is a vital financial aid because these funds are unrestricted.

“Growing up in Cameroon, most female children are raised to believe that their main purpose is to get married and take care of a home, and that getting an education or a career were aimless pursuits.
